Universal Slim

An all-around great choice for a variety of scenarios, in a slim design for maximum subgingival and interproximal access.

Universal Extra Thin

Designed for subgingival and interproximal surfaces with light to moderate deposits. The thin tip design improves access. The recommended power level is low-medium.

Triple Bend Slim

Recommended for light to heavy deposits. Beveled edges make the triple bend design an excellent choice for stubborn calculus. The triple bend shank allows increased access around line angles and interproximal access. Also great for orthodontic cement removal. Recommended for low-high power or medium high for tenacious calculus.
